- To write informal reports as part of personal letters on functions, programmes and activities held in school (morning assembly, annual day, sports day, etc.)
- To write formal reports for school magazines/events/processes/ or in local newspapers about events or occasions.

Introduction

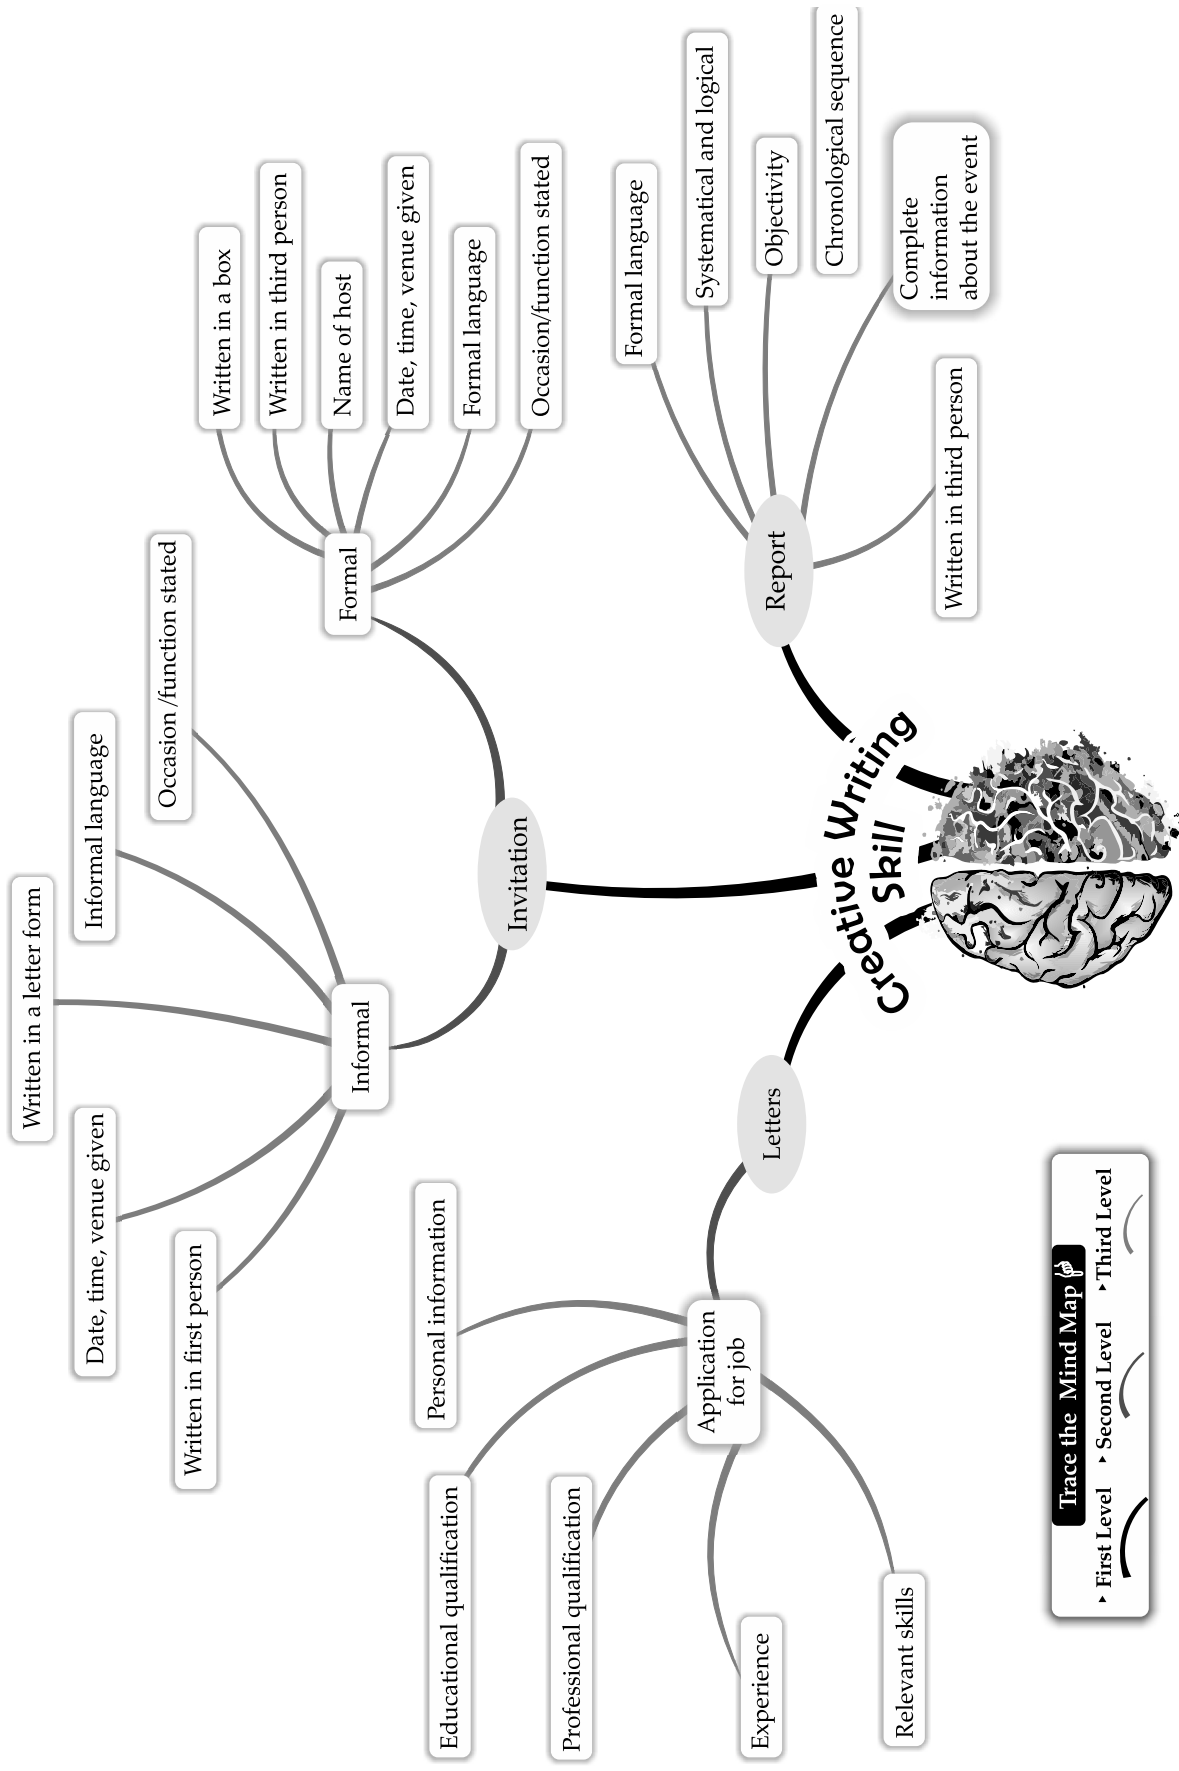

- Invitations are extended to relatives, friends, acquaintances, etc., on auspicious occasions like marriage, birthday, engagement, house-warming etc.

Invitations can be classified under two headings :

While formal invitations are sent for the above-mentioned occasions, informal invitations are usually hand-written and are sent before the formal invitations to make these occasions more personal, cordial and intimate.

Replies are also sent to the invitations. They can be both formal as well as informal in tone.

Trace the Mind Map

- First Level
- Second Level
- Third Level

1. Formal Invitation

- Printed card is preferred.
- Written in third person.
- Short forms and abbreviations are avoided except for RSVP written at the bottom meaning 'Reply if you Please'. RSVP is a French word, its full form is 'Repondez, sil vous plait'. It is written on the extreme left corner of the invitation, along with the sender's name, address and phone number.
- The subject matter is written in the middle with clear details of what, when and where of the function.

Some Useful Tips

Each information in the formal invitation should be in a separate line.

- Name (s) of the host (s) making/sending the invitation
- The expressions usually used are
'request the pleasure of your company'
OR
'feel honoured to invite you'
- The reason for the invitation
- The time, date, and venue of the occasion
- In case a VIP is to be invited to grace the occasion or event, (at an official function) mention his/her name and designation/position
- It is written in 3rd person in simple present tense

Basic features of Formal and Informal Invitations :

Formal	Informal
* Written in both box and letter format	* Written in a letter form
* Written in third person	* First person
* Name of host	* Date, time, venue
* Date, time, venue	* Occasion/function
* Occasion/function	* Informal language
