

Three Greedy Friends

Once there lived three friends in a village. They heard of a treasure hidden in a forest . they went there together and located treasure.

They were very happy to find the treasure. They decided to divide the treasure among themselves equally after taking their meals. So one of them went to bring some food. When he left, the other two decided to divide it between the two. They decided to kill him as soon as he came.

The third friend was wanting money for himself. So he ate his share and mixed poison in the rest. When he came, the other two friends wounded him to death. then they took the food brought by him. Immediately they fell sick and died none of them could get the treasure.

Moral: greed is a curse.

Or

One who digs a pit for others, himself falls into it.